Work completed this week

This week, we focused on preparing the final version of the Quick Bite Restaurant System for submission and presentation. We reviewed all project components, performed final testing, fixed remaining issues, and ensured that the frontend, backend, and database were fully integrated and functioning correctly.

We also prepared the final project documentation, organized the GitHub repository, recorded the project presentation video, and verified that all project requirements were successfully completed before submission.

Features implemented

- Performed final system testing and verification.
- Fixed minor bugs discovered during final review.
- Reviewed frontend, backend, and database integration.
- Verified all CRUD operations and user workflows.
- Tested authentication, authorization, and route protection.
- Confirmed responsive design across different screen sizes.
- Organized project documentation and repository structure.
- Recorded and prepared the final project presentation video.

Problems encountered

- Minor UI inconsistencies identified during final testing.
- Small integration issues discovered while testing complete user workflows.
- Coordination of presentation materials among team members.

Solutions applied

- Resolved UI issues and improved consistency across pages.
- Re-tested all major features and user scenarios.
- Verified data flow between frontend, backend, and database.
- Ensured all project requirements were completed before submission.

Plan for next week
